

Stockton forum today on health law

By ELISA LALA Staff Writer | Posted: Monday, November 11, 2013 11:28 pm

The William J. Hughes Center for Public Policy and the School of Health Sciences at Richard Stockton College will hold a free public forum today on the Affordable Care Act.

Experts will explain the Affordable Care Act, its impact on individuals and small businesses and to offer details on enrollment.

The event will include a question-and-answer session presented by Jaime Torres, Health and Human Services regional director representing the Obama Administration; state Sen. Jim Whelan, D-2nd; Steven Blumberg, senior vice president and executive director of AtlantiCare Health Solutions; and Justine Ceserano, New Jersey director for Enroll America.

The event will begin at 4:30 p.m. in the Campus Center on the main Galloway Township campus.