

By Chase Brush | September 23rd, 2014 - 2:15pm

| More

If there was any question over whether U.S. Senator Cory Booker (D-NJ) would lend a hand in drumming up support for fellow Democratic congressional candidates in the state -- specifically for the Democratic competition in New Jersey's third congressional district, Burlington County Freeholder Aimee Belgard -- let it be answered in the affirmative.

According to an email received by PolitickerNJ today, Booker has begun soliciting donations for Belgard in CD3, sending emails out to supporters asking them to "chip in" to the candidate's campaign.

"We just got some AMAZING news out of the 3rd district. Two separate polls show Aimee Belgard TIED with her Republican opponent. That's great!!!" the email reads.

A Stockton College poll last week showed Belgard neck-and-

The email, signed by Booker but sent by Belgard's campaign, comes as Belgard is locked in a heated race with