

“It is disturbing that a majority of the public believes that our Constitution contains explicit protection

