Galloway, NJ – The Stockton Center on Successful Aging (SCOSA) is sponsoring a series of technology workshops for older adults at Stockton’s Kramer Hall instructional site, located at 30 Front St. in Hammonton, N.J.

Rich Jeffries, a SCOSA volunteer, will instruct the spring sessions of the technology workshops.

Jeffries will present “Introduction to the Internet” on Tuesday, March 22 from 11 a.m. – noon. The presentation will discuss the most popular Internet search engines and will include hands-on training in safe Internet surfing.

He will then present, “YouTube.com” on Tuesday, March 22 from 12:30 – 1:30 p.m. The presentation explains features of YouTube.com, a website which allows individuals to post and share video clips. Jeffries will show the website’s various uses, including posting family celebrations to learning how to change car oil.
