
Special points of interest:

Anita Hill Speaks to Stockton
Community

Voter Registration Campaign
Underway

Stockton Polling Institute
Ready to Conduct Research

Robert Wickward Remembered

Officer Stuart Recuperating

Manahawkin Instructional Site
Open

females on the committee she testified for, and that today there are 17 female Senators. She said the wage gap between men and women had narrowed somewhat in the accomplish. "My testimony did not create this movement. The ongoing engagement did," she said. "We must continue to testify. We have not reached gender parity. We are still far from it."

One of the most overlooked aspects, she said, is the collapse in today's housing market, which is partially as a re

Voter Registration Campaign Underway

Stockton's Political Engagement Project participants, from left, Linda Wharton, Beth Olsen, Dick Colby, Daniel Tomé, Peter Baratta, Kristin Jacobson, Lisa Honaker and Ben Peoples.

Stockton's Political Engagement Project is actively seeking to register students to vote in the General Election on November 6.

The Voter Registration Campaign began its outreach with pre-semester presentations to student and faculty groups. During the fall semester, participants in the Campaign will staff tables at which voter registration and absentee ballot forms will be distributed until the October 16th registration deadline.

The Campaign will supplement its voter registration drive with further information on the absentee ballot process and reminders about the October 30th mailing deadline.

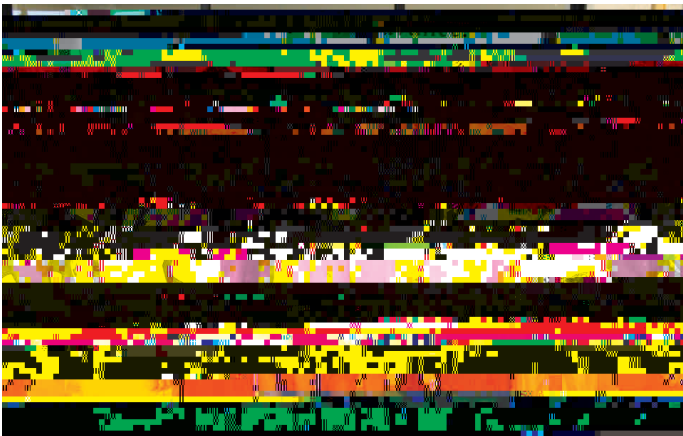

As part of Stockton's Constitution Day Series, the Political Engagement Project, the Office of Service-Learning and the Political Science faculty have also scheduled two public forums at which potential voters may educate themselves and discuss election issues on November 1. At 4:30pm in C-134, the Political Science faculty will host a forum on "What's at Stake" in the 2012 Election, and at 6pm in Campus Center East Gallery, the Office of Service-Learning will facilitate the Democracy Café Dialogue: Should we "Believe in America" or "Move Forward"?

Voter registration forms are currently available at the Library's Reference Desk. For more information, please contact Lisa.Honaker@stockton.edu or Daniel.Tome@stockton.edu.

Stockton Polling Institute Ready to Conduct Research

The new Stockton Polling Institute (SPI) opened

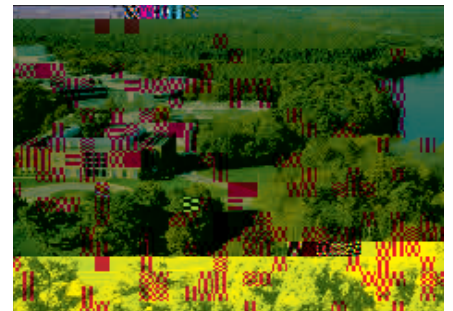

Manahawkin Instructional Site Open

Economic Impact Fact

During FY '11, the College invested nearly $33 million in capital improvements, such as the Housing V project and the new Campus Center. In addition, the College purchased more than $21 million in a variety of goods and services, ranging from $82,831 in office supplies to $4.5 million in utility expenses. Overall result: $54,027,887 outlay in total non-payroll expenditures, from which New Jersey vendors received 82% of the College's disbursements

To read the full Economic Impact Report, click here.

Send Us Your News!

We want to know about things going on in the Stockton community. Do you have an unusual hobby? Did one of your co-workers win an award or perform outstanding public service? Births, weddings, graduations and the like are all good things to submit to the Stockton Times.

Contact Editor Tim Kelly at (609) 652-4950 or e-mail Stocktontimes@stockton.edu.